The range of projects on our Continuum means young people can choose to be involved in stuff that meets their needs. We are a place that includes all young people. By interconnecting projects young people learn from each other, become positive role models and seek leadership or community service opportunities. We also honour three indigenous approaches to youth development:

PŪKENGATANGA	WHARE WĀNANGA	URUNGATANGA
Young people link generations through mentoring and strengthen connection to the land.	Young people possess talents, gifts and interests and deserve formal structures to develop specialised skills.	Young people are educated through exposure and participate to shape their development.

We learnt about these traditional indigenous concepts from the Ara Taiohi Code of Ethics for Youth Work in Aotearoa New Zealand Second Edition. Visit our website www.bgi.org.nz and contact us to find out more and get involved.
